About me

Dr. Alaeddin is an accomplished associate professor in the field of linguistics, specializing in sociolinguistics and socio-pragmatics. With a comprehensive understanding of these domains, he has conducted extensive research and published numerous scholarly works. His research focuses primarily on the transformative impact of the digital communications revolution, the intricate role of speech acts in communication, and the profound influence of Social Networking Sites on language attitudes and sociolinguistic behavior. Dr. Alaeddin's expertise extends to supervising the theses of numerous master's students, guiding them through their research and contributing to their academic growth.

Dr. Alaeddin's academic journey began with a Bachelor's Degree in English literature from Hashimite University in Jordan. Driven by his passion for linguistics, he pursued a Master's Degree in English Linguistics from UKM University in Malaysia, followed by a Ph.D. in Linguistics from the same institution. Since joining Jadara university, Dr. Alaeddin has been actively involved in teaching various courses in Linguistics. Currently, he imparts his knowledge and expertise in subjects such as phonetics, TOFEL, and Methods of scientific research to undergraduate students.
